

Located in the Phoenix Southeast Valley, Gilbert covers more than 72 square miles and has a population of nearly 240,000 residents, many of whom are in the prolific years of their careers. Gilbert's median age is 32.9 and 41.3 percent of residents hold a bachelor's degree or higher. Gilbert is a pro-business environment that attracts innovative companies from around the world, particularly in the science and technology industries. Gilbert is focused on attracting, growing and retaining jobs within the science and technology sectors while concurrently ensuring a workforce is in place to support this growth. From 2010 to 2015, Gilbert has seen a 14 percent growth in STEM workforce. As part of its long-term planning for capacity development, Gilbert has alleviated uncertainty for developers by means of a $5 million economic development reserve fund for deal closing. Additionally, employers in Gilbert have access to a workforce of nearly 2 million people within a 30-minute commute. Frequently ranked among the best and safest cities in the U.S., Gilbert features an unbeatable quality of life and is served by three "A"-rated public school districts that graduated over 7,200 students in 2016. This fact, combined with a flourishing downtown, top-rated entertainment facilities and trending entertainment attractions, has positioned Gilbert as a top Arizona destination to live, work and play.
